The Dark Feminine

Week 1-4

Plant : Guayusa

Chakras : Root, Sacral, Solar Plexus

Themes : Clearing Obstacles,
Dissolving Contracts, Meeting the Queen

Week 1: My Dear Queen...

Week 2 : Lilith

Week 3 : Hekate

Week 4 : Kali

The Dark Feminine

What is dark feminine energy? For me the perfect analogy is childbirth or a mother protecting her children from danger. It is the wildest energy on the planet, it has the roar of a tiger and the very deepest connection to nature there is from human behaviour.

It is primal.

We begin in the base of the body with the plant Guayusa. She has a bold, strict energy and a deep connection to both the root chakra and dark feminine energy. Guayusa holds amazing ability around relationships and karmic loops, in South America she is often called The Soulmate Plant. If there is a relationship in your life that feels like you are banging your head against a brick wall Guayusa will help you – she will shine a particularly bright light if she can see you have reached your limit and need help with it.

The first few weeks of the course are about you facing your fear of your own power and any obstacles between you and your Queen.

This can be a time of strong emotional release and change, especially when we work with Kali. You may feel a wildness in you which feels new yet familiar, you may also experience changes in your sexual energy.

The Divine Feminine

Week 5-8

Plant : Rose

Chakras : Heart, Throat

Themes : Blossoming, Creativity, Joy

Week 5 : Strength in the Softness

Week 6 : Inanna

Week 7 : Mary Magdelene

Week 8 : Lakshmi

The Divine Feminine

This is the sweet centre of the course. Divine Feminine energy is the most magnificent force of love. There is a far reaching glow, strength and softness to this beautiful energy.

Rose is the perfect analogy of Divine Feminine energy - her petals are so open, beautiful and in surrender yet try to break her stem with your bare hands. She is in complete surrender with a steel like silent strength in her centre. Rose is a beautiful plant to diet, as she blossoms open into your heart she gently releases any sadness and holds you with her soft velvety petals. Once any waves of tears pass by a wonderful fizzy energy opens up and you begin floating on a pink cloud.

These middle weeks are about soothing from the deep work of the first few weeks, learning the true story of Mary Magdalene and celebrating your beauty, creativity and magnificence.

The Psychic Gate

Week 9-12

Plant : Blue Lotus

Chakras : Third Eye, Crown

Themes : Intuition, Connection to Source

Week 9 : The Bringer of Sacred
Information

Week 10 : Hathor

Week 11 : Sekhmet

Week 12 : Isis

The Psychic Gate

The psychic gate is an extremely important place in the body, also often referred to as the atlas point. This gate appears in many holistic practices old and new but is rarely discussed. It is the point at the back of your neck, if you were to draw a line from your third eye and from your throat this is the precise energy point where they would cross. It is the gate of vocalising your intuition, to say that which you know.

This is a very important place particularly for women as we have been quietened so many times over so many lifetimes from speaking our intuition. Blue Lotus has amazing ability to open up the psychic gate and allow the information to flow freely. She is a pretty cosmic diet and will communicate with you through your dreams, she is the bringer of sacred information.

These final weeks of the course are about the incredible Egyptian goddesses, studying the messages in your dreams and trusting your intuition.

Sacralising The Queen

Week 13

A week of rituals, writing and reflection as we place our Queens on their thrones.

Once the Queen is in place the ego, shadow or saboteur can never rule again.

It can feel difficult to leave the course and other Queens but we are connected forever now so it's time for a glass of red and a rest!
